

Fruit, Veggies Help Protect Against Cancer of the Pancreas

A recent study of more than 2,200 people showed that those who ate more servings of fruits and vegetables per day significantly reduced their risk of pancreatic cancer compared to those who ate less servings of the same foods.

